SPIDER-MAN™

SPIDER-MAN™ #1

Real Name: Peter Parker

Group Affiliation: Avengers Ht.: 5'10" Wt.: 165 lbs.
First Appearance: AMAZING FANTASY #15, August 1962

Ouch! During a nuclear experiment at a high school science fair, honor student Peter Parker was bitten by an accidentally irradiated spider. From that momentary pinch of pain he gained incredible spiderlike powers! Now, whether he's swinging his way through the city on a web-line of his own weaving, hoisting hundreds of times his weight like his little namesake or acrobatically arresting the world's wildest assortment of archvillains, there's no mistaking that wonderfully witty wall-crawler--the one and only Spider-Man!

Did You Know: Peter's parents, Richard and Mary Parker, were U.S. government agents killed by the villainous Red Skull!

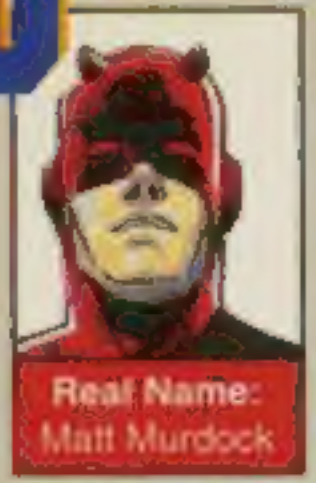
DAREDEVIL™ #2



Real Name:
Matt Murdock

Height: 6' Weight: 200 lbs.
First Appearance: DAREDEVIL #1, April 1964

When honor student Matt Murdock was struck sightless in a chemical truck accident, he began relying on his other, now radioactively enhanced super-senses, and the street-smart crimson crusader called Daredevil was born! This fierce, nimble hero not only has miraculous "radar sense" but can recognize anyone by hearing their heartbeat or by sniffing their scent. Common thugs and super-villains alike find they can neither run nor hide from the scarlet sentinel of justice known as "The Man Without Fear"!

Did You Know: Daredevil's taste buds are so acute, he can identify every ingredient of anything he eats or drinks.

THING™ #3

Real Name:
Ben Grimm

Group Affiliation: Fantastic Four Ht.: 6' Wt.: 500 lbs.
First Appearance: FANTASTIC FOUR #1, November 1961

When Ben Grimm was exposed to cosmic radiation while testing a new type of spaceship, he was permanently transformed into a stone-like colossus with incredible strength. Now, as the Fantastic Four member known as the Thing, he uses that power to defend a world that has shunned him. As renowned for his sense of humor as he is for his indomitable spirit and never-say-die attitude, the Thing's quick wit serves to hide the anguish in his soul--anguish that arises from being a hideous monster, forever separated from ordinary human beings.

Did You Know: Before he became the Thing, Ben Grimm was a top test pilot and astronaut!

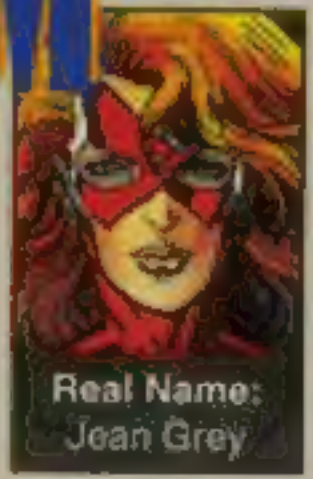
MARVEL GIRL™ #4



Real Name:
Jean Grey

Group Affiliation: X-Factor Height: 5'6" Weight: 110 lbs.
First Appearance: X-MEN #1, September 1963

Marvel Girl is a mutant with the amazing power of telekinesis. Just by thinking about an object, she can manipulate, lift and move it--anything from a pin to a tractor-trailer. She can also use her power on herself and "fly." And when the fighting gets really fierce, she can knock out an opponent with a blast of pure mental energy. Sensitive but strong-willed, Marvel Girl often gives her enemies the impression that she's the weak link among her fellow X-Factor teammates...but the truth is she's perhaps the team's most powerful member!

Did You Know: Marvel Girl can literally think her way out of imprisonment--with a mental command she can break any lock and untie any knot!

Group Affiliation: Excalibur Height: 5'7" Weight: 125 lbs.
First Appearance: X-MEN #141, January 1981

Rachel Summers is the second mutant telepath/telekinetic to bear the name and awesome mantle of Phoenix. She's a refugee from a terrible future--one in which her parents, Cyclops and Jean Grey, and nearly all other super beings have been slaughtered. Fleeing back through time to the present day, she has dedicated her life and near-godlike powers to preventing that future from coming to pass, first as an X-Man, now as a member of Excalibur.

Did You Know: The future world that Phoenix fled is only one of many possible futures, and seems to be an alternate reality to our own.

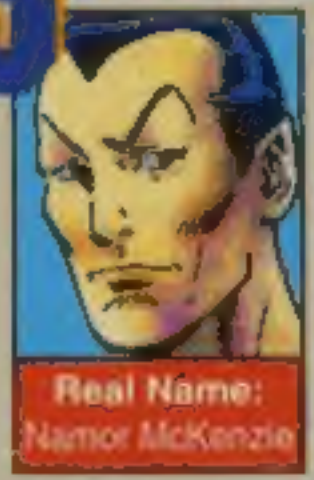
SUB-MARINER™

SUB-MARINER™ #6



Real Name: Namor McKenzie

Group Affiliation: Avengers Height: 6'2" Weight: 300 lbs.
First Appearance: MARVEL COMICS #1, October 1939

When environmental disaster threatens, the super-strong Sub-Mariner springs into action! The son of a human father and a water-breathing princess from the undersea kingdom of Atlantis, Namor has dedicated his life to fighting ecological villains on land, beneath the sea and, thanks to the mutant wings on his ankles, in the air as well! Though his strength fades the longer he's without water, Namor has other weapons at his command--namely his multimillion-dollar corporate empire!

Did You Know: Namor's ankle wings are really fins, which were recently destroyed in battle. Whether they'll grow back remains to be seen.

Her Gypsy parents thought their newborn daughter was a demon when she was born, since the infant Meggan was covered with animal-like fur. As she grew, she came to regard herself as a freak, forever apart from the rest of the human race. In time, however, Meggan discovered that she was a mutant possessing the superhuman power of metamorphosis -- the ability to change her shape and appearance. Since then, she has taken on the lovely form she now bears, except when using her powers to fight evil alongside her friends in the team of heroes known as Excalibur!

Although Strange had sought the Ancient One for selfish reasons, when he discovered that Mordo planned to slay his mentor and steal the secrets of his occult power, Strange set out to stop him. In order to do this, Strange also became the Ancient One's pupil, acquiring great sorcerous powers of his own. With Strange's help, Mordo's treachery was revealed and thwarted, and Strange stayed on as the Ancient One's student, eventually becoming Earth's Sorcerer Supreme. Mordo, on the other hand, continues to plot revenge against Dr. Strange to this very day.

NICK FURY™ VS BARON STRUCKER™ #111

First Encounter: SGT FURY AND HIS [illegible]OOS #5, January 1964

There is a hatred that goes back five decades to World War I. Then Strucker led the dreaded Death's Head Commandoes for Nazi Germany and Fury led his Howling Commandoes for the Allied forces. They clashed many times during the war, and their hatred of each other grew. After the war, Strucker formed the international terrorist organization known as HYDRA, indirectly causing the creation of its opposition on the side of law and order, S.H.I.E.L.D., an organization headed by Fury. Strucker schemed repeatedly to destroy S.H.I.E.L.D., eventually losing his own life as a result. Now, however, Strucker has been resurrected by HYDRA, and the personal war between him and Fury has begun anew.

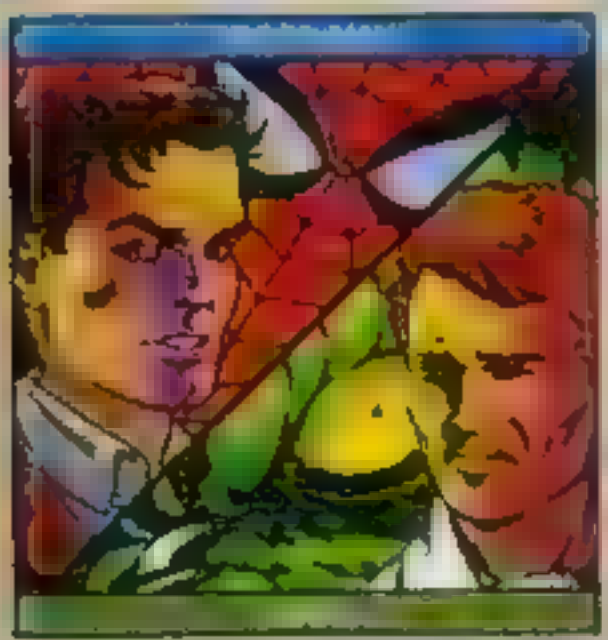
SPIDER-MAN™ VS LIZARD™ #112

First Encounter: AMAZING SPIDER-MAN #6, Nov. 1963



Although the reptilian menace known as the Lizard has long been one of Spider Man's deadliest foes, the heroic web-slinger has never been able to use his full powers against him, for the Lizard is in actuality the brilliant scientist Curt Conners, one of Spider-Man's most trusted allies. On those nightmarish occasions when Conners finds himself transformed into the lethal Lizard, Spider Man must not only survive the Lizard's relentless assaults, but find a way to trick the Lizard into swallowing the antidote that returns him to normal without harming him. And each time they battle, the Lizard becomes more cunning, more merciless and more difficult

SILVER SURFER™ VS THANOS™ #113

First Encounter. SILVER SURFER #34 February 1990

Thanos worshiper of Death, had been given the task of killing one half of all the intelligent beings in all the universe to appease his dark god. Although when they met Thanos tried to convert the noble Silver Surfer to his cause this quickly proved fruitless. Despite Thanos's awesome power the Surfer vowed to put an end to his mad schemes and challenged him in combat. Spanning light years, their repeated battles rocked entire solar systems. Eventually it took the combined might of the universe's greatest champions to defeat Thanos, but if it were not for the Surfer's initial stand against him all might have been lost.

Ultron is an accidental product of Avenger Hank Pym's robotics experiments. From the moment of its creation, Ultron has had an unquenchable hatred of its "father" and its "father's" kind, humans in general and the Avengers in specific. Since then, the evil mechanoid has battled the Avengers on many occasions. Each time it improves itself but the Avengers still find ways to defeat it, though no effort by any combination of the heroes has yet been able to destroy Ultron entirely. DAREDEVIL™ VS PUNISHER™ #116

First Encounter DAREDEVIL #183, June 1982

Though both Daredevil and the Punisher fight crime their differing philosophies have often prompted them to battle each other rather than their common foes. While Daredevil is driven by a respect for the law and a thirst for justice the Punisher has abandoned the law in his quest for vengeance. On more than one occasion Daredevil has sought to defend criminals from the Punisher's deadly assaults in order that they stand trial for their misdeeds. But as the two are so evenly matched, their clashes have never resulted in a clear winner, just as there can never be any compromise between opposing ideologies.

Ouch! During a science experiment at a high school science fair honor student Peter Parker was bitten by an accidentally irradiated spider. From that momentary pinch of pain he gained incredible spiderlike powers! Now, whether he's swinging his way through the city on a web line of his own weaving, hoisting hundreds of times his weight like his life's amusement or acrobatically arresting the world's widest assortment of arch-villains, there's no mistaking that wonderfully witty wall-crawler--the one and only Spider-Man!

First Appearance: INCREDIBLE HULK #1, May 1962

Bruce Banner was a brilliant, mild-mannered scientist--until accidental exposure to the radiation of a gamma-ray bomb unleashed his hidden dark side and turned him into a raging brute with incalculable strength! To his horror, Banner became the green-skinned Hulk whenever he grew angry. Over the years, the Hulk took several forms, including a smarter but weaker gray-skinned version. Recently, Banner succeeded in integrating all these personalities into a single man: the scientist's brains with the powerful green body and the gray-skin's attitude--the toughest Hulk yet!

Did You Know: These days, the Hulk no longer turns back into Bruce Banner--he is always the Hulk!

Frank Castle was a loving husband and caring father but became the merciless engine of vengeance known as the Punisher when his family was brutally killed for stumbling upon a gangland murder in progress. The Punisher, drawing on his years as a U.S. Marine, now wages a one-man war on crime, sentencing criminals to the same fate that his family met. Occasionally teamed up with an aging computer-hack who believes in his mission, the Punisher staunchly believes that the only good crook is a dead crook!
